Babbangida attack highlight.

1. Terrorists operated unchallenged for four hours.

2. Emirate burnt and foodstuffs stored carted.

3. Shops looted.

4. Soldiers stationed there took to their heels.

5. There wasn't air or ground reinforcement to come and destroy the heavy weapons the insurgents came with.

6. No civilian was killed. They even shook hands and exchanged pleasantries with the locals. Some even recorded them during their stay in the town.

Mind-boggling thoughts.

How can insurgents move with such crowd unabated from the fringes of Lake Chad to Tarmuwa? What's wrong with our intelligence report?

After this, what will be the importance of asking passengers to come down and present their identity cards?

How safe is even the state capital?
