

Abdulbasit Kassim
@ScholarAkassi1

Following

After 2yrs of hiatus, #Ansaru released audio messages in Hausa&Fulani (1st audio in Fulani with plethora references to Dan Fodio's jihād) disassociating itself from the killing of Muslims while advocating for jihād to help weak Muslims to establish shari'a in Nigeria.

12:55 PM - 20 May 2019

11 Retweets 11 Likes

1 11 11

Tweet your reply

Mazhun @Mazhun · 57m

Replying to @ScholarAkassi1

As though Dan Fodio didn't actually fight corrupt murderous Muslims in his own Jihad.

Having watch it, do you see this as sort of a renewal of tactics to appeal to the suffering poor?

How do they transfer blame for the sufferings to non-Muslims?

Abdulbasit Kassim @Schola... · 48m

Ansaru does not see any difference between the leaders Dan Fodio fought against in his time and the secular leaders now governing the Nigerian state. In Ansaru's dictionary, they are all tawaghit that should be fought for not ruling by Allah's law (as they understand it).

Abdulbasit Kassim @Schola... · 44m

Ansaru invokes history more than any other group. And they have persistently appealed to the poor albeit their excesses. Ansaru sees itself as a vanguard protecting Muslims but I doubt that Muslims see the group that way but that may change with the focus on the Fulani audience.

NeotericMan @DrPrestige3 · 11m

Hope they won't use this to recruit the poor youths?

